DDHS
PER ASPERA AD ALTA

FORWARD

As the fourth annual edition of the "Torch" nears completion we hope that the publication of an annual student yearbood has become a tradition in Dundalk District High School. The purpose of this book is not merely to amuse the purchaser; it is to set down the year's school activities so that they may be read and enjoyed for many years to come. Thus the student may record his entire stay in High School by subscriving to each edition.

I also wish to thank all those that contributed time and effort to this book. This includes the Teaching Staff, the Students and Mr. and Mrs. Ed McVicar who showed considerable patience in clearing debris out of room 5.

In conclusion we hope that the student body derives as much pleasure from reading this "Torch" as the staff had in publishing it.

THE PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

My dear students:

Another academic year is just about over and I hope each of you has benefited a great deal. You are, after all, the persons by whom the outside world will judge this institution and we hope that wherever you may go you will carry with you the ideals, the learning, and the character which the Dundalk District High School Staff has tried to inculcate.

1960-61 has been a successful year in many ways. Now, allow me to make this wish to everyone of you, that in everything else you undertake may you be just as successful. And whatever you do in later life, win or lose, I know you will always reflect credit on your high school and on your community.

Let us hope that the future will see realized the worthy ambitions of all of us.

H F Clute

P.S. I must not fail to pay tribute to your hard-working year book staff. This year they hope to realize that age-old ambition of our year book staffs--to make the deadline. My best wishes go with them in this endeavour.

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

Following is the Valedictory Address given by Miss Shirley Nicholls at Dundalk District High School Commencement on Thursday, November 17, 1960:

Mr. Chairman, members of the staff and school board, ladies and gentlemen:

I wish to thank the Student's Council for the privilege of being here as Valedictorian for the graduating class of 1960.

To those of us who have completed our high school studies, the five years of class and homework now seem to have required only a brief amount of time. But to those who have several more years to spend here as students, it seems perhaps that more work is all that lies ahead.

There are, however, many extracurricular activities which provide a rest from mental application and also allow time for the amusing incidents which are a necessary part of life of every student.

I think, and I am sure our teachers will agree, that the 12 of us who entered Grade XIII last year, seemed to encounter a large number of difficulties. Although Miss Graham is no longer here, I think I should mention the hopeless task which she undertook. Every day at noon she tried to keep us out of the Home Economics room and we finally found it necessary to post a guard at the door to warn us when she was coming--and this all happened because she caught Ken and Muriel eating carrots one morning.

And Mr. Clute, I suppose, has some idea how many hydrogen sulphide generators we set up in an effort to understand chemistry But I doubt that he ever knew how often Ron and Barbara sneaked into the storeroom in order to obtain nitric acid and the other materials necessary to make nitrogen trioxide and gun cotton, both of which are very noisy explosions.

One part of the curriculum which has always been denied Grade XIII is regular use of the gymnasium for physical education. I sincerely hope that in the future, it might be possible for the students to have this privilege. Physical activity is necessary in everyone's life, and especially in that of the student, for quite often homework and studies prevent his obtaining a satisfactory amount of physical exercise.

With the addition which is being completed at present, I suppose the storeroom will no longer be used for classes. Perhaps the Upper School students will be glad of this, but to us Room 8 was a special hideout where we could meet to flip pennies, tell stories, or on the rare occasion, to do homework.

To those students who intend to continue their education after high school graduation, I would repeat what I am sure your teachers have told you. Do not memorize your work. Do not even attempt to learn it until it is thoroughly understood. It is not sufficient merely to pass examinations. Your education cannot be utilized unless you are able to apply the principles which you have been taught.

Sir William Osler once said: "If I have had any measure of success at all, it has been solely because of doing the day's work that was before me just as faithfully and honestly and energetically as was in my power."

Surely high school students can take such an example as a guide.

On behalf of our class, I would like to say a special "Thank you" to all the teachers who worked with us during our five years here. Many things tucked away in the recesses of our jinds will become clearer through experiences and we shall be grateful to the friendly, understanding interest and the instruction given us by the the teachers.

I sincerely hope that those of you who are students at Dundalk District High School will find inspiration in your motto: "Per aspera ad alta," "Through difficulties to the heights."

Junior Matriculation Diplomas were presented at the Commencement Exercises by Mrs. K. Hannon.

The Glee Club under the direction of Mrs. Wm. Arnill.

BADMINTON

Since the year book was put out on schedule last year, the badminton results could not be printed. In the doubles, Juris Zvanitajs and Boniface Vaivods emerged as champions for the second consecutive year. Boniface Vaivods was champion in the badminton singles.

INTER-FORM BASKETBALL

Four teams, each captained by a senior, were set up in each noon hour. Two points were given for a win, one point for a tie, each team playing a total of nine games. In the first noon hour the team of Boniface Vaivods, Jack Black, Wayne Harrison, Wayne Watson, Dzintars Statkus, Michael Connolly, Larry Timbers and Bill Tye were the eventual winners. The second noon hour series was never finished.

SR. BOYS BASKETBALL

Dundalk 47 Flesherton 27

For the first league game, the Dragons could not get any sustained drive going, and consequently, Flesherton gave them more trouble than anticipated. However, the Dragons slowly pulled ahead and stayed there to win. Top Scorers: Juris Zvanitajs 10, Walt Zvanitajs 10.

Dundalk 67 Durham 68

In the first quarter, the Dragons started fast, and piled up a 15 point lead. In the second quarter the hard-fighting Durham team kept chipping away at the Dragon lead, and were slowly pulling even. In the last half Durham pulled ahead, and a great see-saw battle developed. With only minutes to go, Walt and Juris Zvanitajs fouled out. With 30 seconds to go, the Dragons were 1 point ahead, when Larry Seeley fouled a Durham player, and on the foul shots, Durham went ahead, and won it, as the Dragons could not score in the dying seconds.
Top Scorers: Juris Zvantiajs 21, Glen Krueger 14.

Dundalk 66 Markdale 60

Markdale, the defending champions, had only one player from last years great team. Consequently, although they tried hard, and near the end threatened the Dragons, they could not win against a steadily improving Dundalk crew. Juris Zvanitajs set a new record for the Dragons netting 31 points.
Top Scorers: Juris Zvanitajs 31, Glen Krueger 9.

Dundalk 67 Shelburne 55

Shelburne jumped into an early lead, and were ahead at the half. However, the Dragons pulled ahead, and with some inspired playing went on to win. Shelburne was upset by the absence of one of their key guards.
Top Scorers: Juris Zvanitajs 24, Walt Zvanitajs 12.

Dundalk 42 Shelburne 47

This was one of those rare games where everyone of the Dragons had a poor day. They could not set up plays, and even when they did, they could not put the ball in an elusive basket. Shelburne capitalized on the Dragons mistakes to win, and created a 3 way-tie for first place.
Top Scorers: Juris Zvanitajs 16, Walt Zvanitajs 10.

Dundalk 41 Durham 29

This game was a do-or-die one for the Dragons. If they lost, they would be out of the running for the championship. Although the game was in Durham, this did not faze the Dragons. Playing well as a team, they checked fiendishly, and any Durhamite with the ball inside the Dragon ten-second line was immediately surrounded by several Dragons. This was without a doubt the best game the Dragons played all year. They kept Durham to 4 points in the first quarter and never relinquished their lead.
Top Scorers: Juris Zvanitajs 20, Glen Krueger 12.

Dundalk 58 Markdale 46

Markdale arrived accompanied by trumpets and a large cheering section, as a win would give them a shot at the championship. Once the game started, the Dragons quickly got control, and in the rough-house department gave as good as they got. Markdale lacked experience and could not rebound to any effective degree. The Dragons played calmly, and by a great team effort handily defeated Markdale.
Top Scorers: Glen Krueger 20, Juris Zvanitajs 20.

Dundalk 92 Flesherton 27

In this game the second team got a chance to show their stuff. They played fully one-half the game, and had no trouble with the Flesherton offense. When the first team came on, it was not a contest, it was just a practice shooting session for the Dragons. Juris Zvanitajs set a new Dragon scoring record, racking up 36 points.
Top Scorers: Juris Zvanitajs 36, Glen Krueger 15.

Championship Game:

Dundalk 53 Durham 35

The Dragons were slow in getting started, but once they did, Durham could not keep up with them. Dundalk had the rebound and the drive, and even with a slow start, defeated the less experienced Durham crew. This game was played in Flesherton. After the game, the Durham team showed great sportsmanship in the sincere way they congratulated the Dragons.
Top Scorers: Juris Zvanitajs 31, Walt Zvanitajs 10.

CWOSSA PLAYOFFS:

Dundalk 35 St. Johns H.S. 85

This game was played in a large gym in Guelph. The St. John's team, from Brantford, was much taller than the Dragons, and used this height to good advantage. Their shooting was great, and any rebounds that the Dragons got were rare. Although the Dragons tried, they could not mount much of an attack against their much taller opposition.
Top Scorers: Juris Zvanitajs 15, Walt Zvanitajs 10.

Exhibition Games

The Dragons also played several exhibition games: beating Orangeville 37-30, and the Old Boys twice 78-60 and 83-58. However, the Dragons lost to the Toronto Latvian Sports Club 53-46, the Old Boys 93-89 and the Georgas Bros. Shamrocks 103-47. In this game--played against a Senior B team, of older, more experienced players, the Dragons got some good pointers.

Summary:

This year, the Dragons finally got some height, in Glen Krueger, and consequently, used this height in controlling a large percentage of both offensive and defensive rebounding. In Juris Zvanitajs, the league scoring leader, they had a dependable, sure shooting forward. Larry Seeley, a forward and Ron McCreary a guard, set up a large number of the Dragon plays and were good team players. Walt Zvanitajs helped defensively and Bonnie Vaivods played steadily and dependibly. Dave Dee, Norm Jack, Floyd Patton and George Spence played on the second team, and with some experience, should play many more good games for the Dragons. Unfortunately Billy Rea, a great little spark-plug, broke his ankle in hockey, and only got in some exhibition games.

This years team started slowly, and only after they played several games, started to improve. This slow start could be traced to not enough practice time before the season. Once the Dragons got rolling, they had the championship wrapped up. In the CWOSSA playoff in Guelph, the Dragons ran into the type of team they will have to beat to reach the finals. With more practice in rebounding and shooting, the Dragons could, in the future, field good teams.

Top scorer this year was Juris Zvanitajs with 224 points in league and playoff games, for an average of 22.4 points a game. The Dragons averaged 56.8 points a game, while keeping the opposition to 47.9 points.

1960-61 Dragons:

The Juniors had only a few good players who, however, were not enough to carry along a team of rookies. Although they lost most of their games, they always tried their best. Jack Zeggil, shows promise, for the future, once he acquires experience. Jack averaged around 15 points a game. Wayne Watson, a small, scrappy forward also shows promise, and several others are going to be heard from as they improve.

I am sure that the players of both the Senior and Jr. teams would like to thank their coaches, Mr. Clute and Mr. Cmristofolakos for all the time and effort they spent with the teams.

INTER-SCHOOL VOLLEY-BALL

On Thursday April 19th, the Senior Boys Volley-ball team went up to Flesherton, to play in a round-robin tournament up there, against Markdale and Durham. After a shaky start, Dundalk defeated Markdale 16-14 and 15-7. Then, they took the first set against 15-11. In the next set, with the score 7-7 Bonnie Vaivods sprained his ankle. Then, on the next play, Fred Goheen pulled a muscle. Thus with two of their better players out, Dundalk could not stave off a determined Durham rally and went down to defeat 12-15 and 9-15. The team consisted of W.Zvanitajs, J.Zvanitajs, J. Black, F. Goheen, B. Vaivods, G. Kreuger, L. Seeley, R. McCreary, Coach, Mr. Chris tofolakos.

FOOTBALL

In the inter-form football league, Grade XIII and Grade XII squared off for victory and the resulting encounter with Grade X for the pennant. Trailing 18-6 right up to the last two minutes, Grade XIII put forth a frenzied effort and tied the game on the last two plays. Grade XIII won the deciding game 18-0.

In the final game, an 18-0 win over Grade X gave the football pennant to the Grade XIII boys.

Remember When

By Jack Black

1. ..... every day brought forth a new adventure and each one ignited by the comedians who claim membership at D.D.H.S.

2. ..... the two short days that Grade 1X were at the mercy of their superiors.

3. ..... Grade X retaliated their insignificant rank through initiation by invading Grade X111 along with other seniors in an outrageous manner with heavy artillery loaded with water.

4. ..... certain members of the staff were invaded by farmers on Hallow'een night. The result...a spreading implement left on their door-step.

5. ..... Bite was out the window, got a book, and back in again in three seconds flat.

6. ..... the girls flexed their fingers madly in preparition for the on-coming basketball season.

7. . ..... Mae Ruttan took the hammer to a typewriter.....and consequently fixed it.

8. ..... Jeanette Irwin acquired a fan club during the days before field day while practicing the high jump.

9. ..... Bill Tye used Miss Tatley's head for target practice

10. ..... Bill Rea had his pants torm off by Bonny and Jack Zeggil while playing football.

11. ..... the year book room rocked with laughter in between the anti year book raids of various teachers. It seems they kept trying to disrupt the hilarious social club.

12. ..... Grade X111 reigned supreme in the football field.

13. ..... Mr. Clute made an all time record. 25% of his experiments were successfully completed.

14. ..... Santa Claus came to D.D.H.S. in shorts prior to the grand opening of Christmas holidays. He bore an amazing resemblance to Dunc.

15. ..... Ron Springgay went to the washroom only to be met by a mob of girls. He was in the wrong one.

16. ..... Grade X111 was forced to volunteer (under force) their assistance in the cafeteria at meal time after an eighteen month rest interval.

17. ..... Lena Korne made her debut into show biz at the Commencement with that new hit, "MA".

GIRLS' SPORTS

The girls athletic activities for the 60-61 school year began with the annual field day, which was held on the afternoons of two days. The majority of the girls participated and the champions were as follows: Mae Ruttan, 14 points, senior girls champion; Brenda Humphrey, 16 points, junior girls champion.

The next big event to take place was the South Grey Interschool Track and Field Meet at Flesherton. The girls pooled their talents but, as it seemed, to little avail for only 14 points were chalked up on their behalf to help Dundalk place 4th. Both luck and the wind were working against them the day of the meet. The points gained in the various sports were as follows:

100 yard dash	Connie Moore	2nd.
200 yard dash	Connie Moore	2nd.
Ball throw	Lawna Sherritt (149'7")	1st.
Running Broad	Mae Ruttan	3rd.
Hop-step-jump	Mae Ruttan	3rd.
Basketball trio	Marilyn Keating Marilyn Riddell Yvonne Robinson	1st.
	Connie Moore Barbara McIntyre Anita Vaivods Mae Ruttan	2nd.

VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball was quite prominent in the girls athletic curriculum both in P.T. periods and extra curricular games with other schools. In the intramural series a team from Grade 10 defeated a Grade 11 and 12 team in two out of three games to become the champions.

A series was held between Flesherton and Dundalk senior and junior teams of which Flesherton were victorious in both groups. Also, an interschool volleyball tournament took place in our gym in which three schools took part. They were Dundalk, Shelburne, Flesherton, and from the round robbin series the winners in order were:

(for the seniors)
1. Flesherton
2. Shelburne
3. Dundalk

(for the juniors)
1. Shelburne
2. Flesherton
3. Dundalk

January 10 saw the opening of the basketball season. This proved to be a bad year for the girls. The games, both junior and senior, are as follows:

	Juniors	Seniors
Jan. 10
Flesherton	12	26
Dundalk	9	17

The seniors played a good game but were outrun by the Flesherton team.

Jan. 12
Durham	19	6
Dundalk	17	14

Good games by both seniors and juniors. Dundalk found it necessary to adopt rather rough tactics to keep in pace with the opposing team.

Jan. 19
Markdale	16	25
Dundalk	19	6

A hard fought game by both teams of both sides. The juniors did well in capturing their first victory.

Jan. 24
Shelburne	23	16
Dundalk	5	5

Although the score shows differently, it was a good game. Guards played especially well in holding Shelburnes baskets to a minimum!

Jan. 31
Shelburne	18	16
Dundalk	5	11

Game along the same lines as previous one. Well played but a loss.

Feb. 6
Markdale	9	11
Dundalk	17	9

Seniors obtained a new forward in this game in the person of Lawna Sherritt who turned out to be one of the top scorers.

Feb 7
Durham	18	8
Dundalk	11	28

Good rough game-proved Dundalk can dish it out as well as take it. Lawna Sherritt credited with 16 of our 28 points.

Feb. 14
Flesherton	23	16
Dundalk	2	13

Both teams worked extremely hard to keep the lead once they had gained it but time ran out while the opposition was ahead.

A Talk With A Grandmother In The Stone Age.

It was a clear summer night. My grandmother and I were seated around the fire, for it was our turn to keep it going. All the men of the family were out at the neighbour's cave playing poker and drinking a new beverage invented by the hic-up-cola company called "booze". Grandma settled back in her old, worn out slab, which she refused to trade in an a new, stream-lined model. She said she had spent her life-time wearing this one out to the shape of her back, and she wasn't going to get another one only to have to start all over again. I decided this would be a good time to ask her.
"Grandma" can I go to the Rocksy tonight? There's a new sin-ger there called Smelvin Presbey, and he's going to sing his new chant "You ain't nothin' but a dinosaur".
"Land Sakes, I don't know whats the matter with you teen-agers nowadays, running around all the time, racing your mustadons and parking all night on them".
I knew there was no sense in arguing when granma was in one of her" when I was your age" moods, so I settled down to a q quiet evening at home. I got out the left over dinosaur and began to peel it for tonights dinner. Wouldn't you like one of those pickled dinosaur's eggs mother got on sale at the super-cave yesterday, grandma? No I wouldn't touch one of those things. In my day and age we did all the work with our own hands. Why, if it wasn't for all the work we did carving out this cave, you just wouldn't be living in one of the nicest caves on the block. I declare, the women nowadays are so lazy, they've even got a thing down at the river to help them with their laundry. Its called a "ridged stone", or something. I don't know, I just don't understand these mechanical things. And those men, they're no better, with their fancy "wheel", and that thing called a lever, where they use a pole propped up aginst a rock to move another rock. And that horrible weapon, the sling-shot, that tribe, The Rooshins, across the river has invented! Why the fall-out of those stones is apt to wipe out the whole human race! Where's that no-good brother of yours? "I think he took the family log down the river to pick up his girl." Yes, I can imagine. They're probably tearing up and down the river right now, causing accidents".
No, I think they were going down to the teen centre to see the latest rock carvings in the cave. "Sure, some of those obscence cave-man type pictures of girls in leopard skin bikines.
This family's getting worse every day. Look at your mother always nagging her husband to carve out some of those built-in cupboards just to keep up with the Joneses in the next cave. My mother was an ape until she evolved into a human at nineteen and at least we had peace until then. Oh, for the good old days!

A TYPICAL "DING-DONG" DAY

I awoke in the morning, it was fifty below.
At the foot of the bed stood my nine little toes.
It was the last day of school, at least for the week,
So I prepared for the jump and the bed springs did creak.

Swifty, but gently, I hopped out of bed.
My toe caught the light-switch...I lit on my head.
The man on C.H.U.M. yelled a "quarter to eight",
So I scrubbed my back teeth and then cleaned my plate.

Up the rough road came a deafening roar.
I grabbed my school books and ran through the door.
My head was ringing, it started to throb.
Someday I'll remember to turn that door knob.

The bus tires made sounds like the crunching of snow.
Don't laugh, 'cause someday it could be your TOES!
I gritted my teeth and I slowly turned green,
And three colours later, I started to scream.

I entered the school, and began my long hike,
So I walked and I walked, how I longed for my trike.
Bonnie was singing as he opened his locker.
I always knew that he'd flip his wee rocker.

The guards were stationed to stop any ruchus;
Mr. Clute, Mr. Walls, Mr. Christofoakos.
Mr. Osborne was stationed down in his shop,
While the girls were cooking their usual slop.

A deadly silence soon filled every room,
For the clock on the wall read five minutes to noon.
The bell went ding, and I led the rest,
Till I slipped, and the mob kindly caved in my chest.

As I picked myself up from the tile heated floor,
I carried my carcass to a washroom door.
I seemed to be lost as I wandered about,
But finally, ...one of the girls kicked me out.

Bonnie and Andy and Walter and Ron
Ran to the washroom.....for a game of ping-pong.
The boys crowded round, all wanting to win.
It was Friday; You guessed it--the girls had the gym.

After our lunch, a French class no doubt,
So therefore six boys would soon be kicked out.
The afternoon classes went none too quick,
As everyone waited for the extra-curric.

At ten after three everyone made a bound.
The P. A. made a ding, a blow, and a sound.
The orders were shouted, and everyone ran;
Jack, Juris, and Jones and even wee Sam.

Mr. Walls took his tumblers up on the stage.
Mrs. Acheson's Algebra, I hear is the rage.
Miss Tatley's Spanish is "Si, Senior".
"I'm tired of whispering so Adios, OUT THE DOOR!"

The films are shown and some are quite rare.
Miss Harvey said, "I'd sooner watch Yogi Bear".
Our basketball games are looking quite dim.
All we need is ONE basket to allow us to win.

The four o'clock ding, I was first out the door,
With a trampling of feet there came two hundred more.
But all kidding aside, we all want to pass.
Who would want to grow up and act like a .....mule.

---Fred Goheen.

NEMESIS

The blazing sun beat down upon the big negro's back, making it glisten like polished ebony. His muscles straining as he picked up the bags of cotton, his teeth gleaming as he drew back his lips in a wierd grimace, he furtively watched his master approach. The other slaves were forced to increase their already rapid pace since the driver, suddenly more conscious of his duty to please the master, laid the cat-o'-nine tails liberally on their backs.

The master stopped. He stared at a young negress who was trying to hide the fact that she hadn't quite made up her quota of cotton. He laughed hideously and snatched the whip from the driver, beating the girl until she was forced to her knees, then he kicked her until she fell, face-down in the warm earth. The negro had watched all this silently; a muscle twitching in his cheek was the only sign that the scene had made any impression upon him.

That night in the close confines of the slaves' quarters, he tried to forget the mosquitoes, bugs, and the gnawing hunger in his stomach. There was an outburst of quarrelling among some younger slaves, but the heat soon overcame them and they settled down to sleep. Soon the silence was broken only by the heavy breathing of the cramped, crowded sleepers.

The big negro arose and stole noiselessly out of the cabin after disposing of the guard at the door. He could see the master's house on the hill, dark and sinister. He crept to the kitchen door, and, seeing no one, sped silently up the stairs. One door was ajar and he looked inside the room. There was a form on the bed and heavy breathing filled the room. Taking the knife he had stolen from the kitchen, he plunged it into the sleeper; there was a slight grunt, and the sound of breathing stopped.

Quickly the negro ran down the stairs and out into the yard. A guard yelled at him to halt, but he headed straight for the river. He stumbled through the undergrowth while the hideous howl of blood-hounds rang in his ears. He reached the water and headed downstream; soon the sounds of the dogs died away, and he was alone in the desolute, mosquito infested swamp. He knew that the guards figured he would never get through the many pools of quicksand and the treacherous bogs. But he'd make it; he knew he would. If he could only get to that clearing ahead where there was a road going in the opposite direction, he'd be free. Free to do as he liked, go where he pleased. Free! The exhilarating thought gave him new strangth and he started to run. Too late he felt the ground spring under his step; too late he tried to stop and turn back. He sank like a stone into the grey, sandy mass. Struggling wildly, he screamed for someone to help him. But there was no one who could help now, for there was nothing left where the negro had been, nothing except bubbles of air on the surface of the quicksand, and a strange, horrible sucking noise.

INITIATION

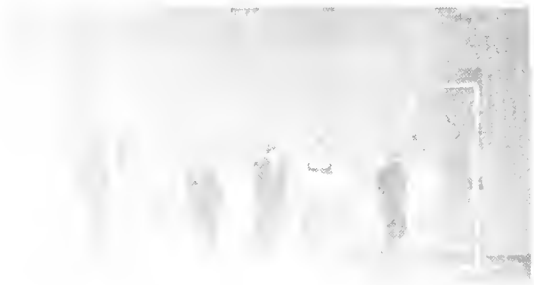
The great day which the grade niners had anxiously been looking forward to arrived early in the school year.

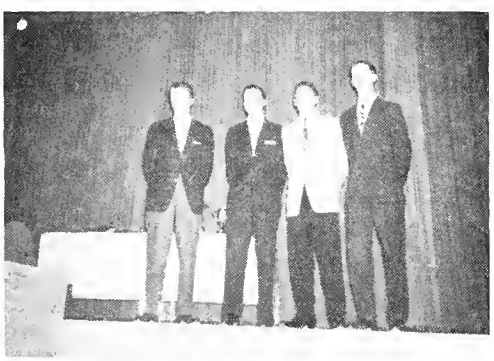
The new students seemed to be showing off during these two days by pushing onions down the hall with their noses and even proposing to the teachers.

In court however, on Friday afternoon the grade tens seemed to think they had been left out of the proceedings and attacked the judge and councilors with water guns and shouts. This demonstration was overthrown by the court policemen and the freshmen were again brought to justice for their wrong-doings.

The grade tens were punished for their barbaric out-burst.

SCENES FROM VARIETY NIGHT





COMMENCEMENT

The commencement exercises began with choral selections by the Glee Club directed by Mrs. Wm. Arnill. The Pres. of the Students Council, Fred Goheen gave a few remarks. Duncan Goheen sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Arnill.

Mrs. K. Hannon then made the presentation of certificates and Diplomas.

The quartet of Duncan Goheen, George Spence, David Arnill and Delbert Russell made its' debut.

The guest speaker this year was Mr. Eric Winkler M.P. for Grey and Bruce counties.

The valedictory address was given this year by Miss Shirley Nichols. Miss Nichols was known all through her high school days for her schoolastic abilities.

COMMENCEMENT DANCE

The music for the Commencement Dance this year was provided by Llew Davison. The attendance was excellent.

A good time was had by all.

CAROL FESTIVAL

A carol Festival was held in the High School this year with choirs from as far away as Owen Sound, Durham, and Mount Forest. The D.D.H.S. Glee Club also took part.

These choirs appeared on channel 8 Wingham. Due to sickness however the Dundalk did not appear.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

This year Santa even came to the school Christmas party. Presents and candies were given and received as well as mistletoe during the soc-hop which followed afterwards.

ST. VALENTINES DANCE

Llew Davison again provided the music for this dance. The gymnasium was decorated in red and white streamers and spot lights added the carnival effect. Decorations were planned by Joan Zeggil.

VARIETY NIGHT

On March 9th and 10th the annual D.D.H.S. Variety Night was held. The first night the attendance was small due to a heavy snow fall. The second night however the auditorium was packed.

The show was started by selections by the Glee Club . Dancing, plays, and quartet selections rounded off the evening.
